COURT DROPS WARD ACTION

Judge Declines To Rule After U. S. Turns Plant Back to Management.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO May 10 — Federal Judge William H. Holly today dropped injunction litigation stemming from government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co Chicago properties without ruling on legality of the federal action in taking possession.

The court told company and government counsel he "considered the case dismissed" but would rule Friday on whether it should be recorded as dismissed with or without prejudice

Judge Holly said he would not rule on legality of the seizure because "events have transpired which apparently have taken the case out of my hands"

Subsequently the judge told reporters he had ordered destroyed all copies of the decision he had been prepared to issue today in the injunction case He said he "regretted having to do so" having spent a great deal of time studying the evidence and arguments submitted by government and company lawyers and preparing the ruling

The company properties are back in the hands of its management, Judge Holly said, and it is a well established fact that federal courts are not required to rule 'on a moot question"

He said there now was "nothing before me,' events having "transpired" while he was considering the petition of the government for a temporary injunction to prohibit Ward officials from interfering with government operation of the plant

Took Over April 26

The Chicago plant was in government possession from April 26 until yesterday when Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones turned it back to the company

The jurist made the statement after the government relinquished possession of the company's Chicago units and the properties were turned back to the hands of board chairman Sewell Avery

A CIO union won a collective bargaining election at the plants last night, and followed up with a demand upon the war labor board to extend and enforce an expired contract with the union.

"The case is out of my hands," the judge said. "The company, as I understand it, is back in the hands of Montgomery Ward, so that there is nothing for me to do"

The government had asked Judge Holly to issue a temporary injunction restraining Ward executives from interfering with federal operation of the properties Ward counsel had requested him to dissolve a temporary restraining order to that effect when he had issued April 27, one day after the government assumed control with the aid of troops.

During recent arguments government and Ward attorneys had disputed whether President Roosevelt had the legal power to seize the plants

Sewell L Avery resumed control of Montgomery Ward & Co. 13 days after two soldiers carried him from his office of board

PARIS, BERLIN RAF TARGETS IN NIGHT RAIDS

German Radio Says Daylight Attacks Resumed from English Bases.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 10 — Four-engined U S bombers from Italy apparently took up the pre-invasion offensive against the European fortress today in the wake of night assaults on both Berlin and Paris by RAF Britain-based "heavies." The German radio said fierce battles raged over the eastern Alps, possibly heralding another blow from the Mediterranean at Austrian targets.

* * *

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 10—RAF bombers hammered both Paris and Berlin last night and today the German radio said daylight raiders were bearing down on the European fortress on the 26th day of the thunderous pre-invasion air offensive

While British heavy bombers concentrated on military and industrial objectives in France, including an aircraft foundry and stamping plant in the Paris suburb of Gennevilliers swift Mosquitos last night unloaded many 4,000-pound blockbusters on Berlin, still smouldering from heavy American attacks Sunday and Monday Mines were laid in enemy waters

RAF Loses Seven

In all its night operations the RAF lost seven aircraft, the air ministry announced.

A force of Lancasters bombed a ballbearing factory at Annecy near the French-Italian border and almost the whole works appeared to be on fire after bombs fell among accurate markers, it was announced.

A German broadcaster declared a formation of bombers was approaching the Danube-Alps region This indicated the Mediterranean air force, whose night bombers hit Genoa and Laverno in Italy last night, was sending heavies back into the Balkans by daylight after a two-day layoff because of bad weather

RAF heavy bombers also ranged over the French channel coastal area heaping new destruction on military objectives, some of which have been bombed almost daily in the furious pre-invasion prelude

A British communique said the night attack on French targets was carried out "in strength," indicating perhaps 750 bombers participated dropping something like 2,800 tons of bombs on multiple objectives.

4,000 Planes in Attack

German radio reports today indicated a double dose for targets inside the reich itself, which escaped yesterday when more than 4,000 planes flew against the continent from Britain alone and loosed possibly 6,000 tons of bombs on invasion defenses Yesterday's main attack was by about 1,000 American heavy bombers against rail centers and airdromes at a cost of six bombers and seven fighters Five German fighters were shot down

The daylight attack yesterday by practically every type of allied warplane hit scores of widely-separated targets in Belgium, France and Luxembourg

Wet Grounds Shelve Ball Game Tonight

Tonight's Ohio State League game between Marion and Middletown was postponed by action of Marion club officials this afternoon after an inspection of the grounds at Lincoln park

They said sections of the field were so wet players would risk injury if the game were played

The next game will be tomorrow night at Lincoln park between Marion and Middletown Today's postponed game will be made up later in the season

Cong. Smith Urges FHA Abolishment

Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion, in a speech in Washington last night to the Association of Home Builders of the United States, declared that the federal public housing program is a "Communistic scheme" and should be abolished immediately, The Associated Press reported.

"The program is a Communistic scheme that would make Karl Marx, the father of Communism, smile in his grave if he could be apprised of it," Congressman Smith told the group.

"Every phase of home building should be left to private enterprise."

Risch, Lehner and Warner Marion Co. Contest Winners

Nominated by Republicans for Commissioners and Sheriff; Total of 6,129 Votes Cast.

A total of 6,129 Marion county residents cast ballots in yesterday's primary a number that was substantially larger than pre-election forecasts and more than 2,000 heavier than the primary vote two years ago

In Marion county, local interest centered in the six-man Republican county commissioner race with two to be nominated and the two-man Republican sheriff contest.

The Republican commissioner nominees are William L Risch with 1,972, and Carl H Lehner with 1,578 The next high man was Don C. Clement with 1,273, or 305 behind Lehner Others in the order they finished were Luther Mitchell with 1,067, James W. Fields with 929 and C W Seckel with 370 Risch is now serving as county commissioner and Lehner is a Marion township trustee They will meet Victor Kreis and B J. McNeal, both uncontested Democrats, in the November election

W M Warner won the Republican sheriff nomination over Charles R La Monda by a vote of 2,185 to 1,905. Warner will meet LeRoy Retterer, uncontested yesterday for the Democratic nomination, in the November election.

Of especial interest to Marion county residents was the nomination yesterday of Harry V Armstrong of LaRue for state treasurer on the Democratic ticket He carried Marion county by a smashing margin and ran well throughout the rest of the state.

Returns Slow

Marion county returns were slow coming in the early part of last night, first reports reaching election headquarters at 9:30. Shortly afterward the precincts came in rapidly for several hours, but the last ones weren't in until shortly before breakfast time this morning.

There were 1,237 Republican votes cast in the county yesterday and 1,892 Democratic, the Democrats having no county contest to attract them to the polls.

Marion county didn't contribute to the success of either of the gubernatorial nominees, the Republicans giving their heaviest support to Paul M. Herbert while James G. Stewart led in the state, and the Democrats throwing their support to Martin L. Sweeney while Ohio Democrats generally voted for Lausche.

Hoover High Man

One of the incidents that attracted attention and dozens of comments of, 'What's in a name'" was the remarkable showing made in Marion county by Herbert Hoover, a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. He polled 1,382 votes while his nearest rival for Marion county support had only 381 Election officials said they felt confident Hoover won most of the unusual support because of his name rather than his acquaintance in Marion county. He is a Columbus man, and his name proved popular elsewhere as well as in Marion county. He won the state nomination in an eight-man race.

Complimentary Votes

Among the uncontested candidates in Marion county, County Treasurer Marion E Hinklin received the largest complimentary vote, 3,784. Others getting large complimentary votes were County Engineer Walter Johnson, 3,643, James E Reed, prosecuting attorney, 6,036, Clerk of Courts Elmer E Smith, 3,583; Congressman Frederick C. Smith, 3,564; County Representative Earl E. Thomas, 3,486

G. Eugene Williams, uncontested for the Republican nomination for county recorder, polled 2,153 votes despite the fact election officials had previously announced he could not be awarded a certificate of nomination because he was not properly registered as a Marion county elector.

On the Democratic ticket, the heaviest complimentary vote was won by LeRoy Retterer, sheriff candidate, with 1,592, closely trailed by County Recorder Grace Zachman with 1,571 Other heavy

LaRue Man Wins State Nomination

Harry V Armstrong of LaRue, nominated by Ohio Democrats yesterday as their candidate for treasurer of state, is believed to be Marion county's first state office nominee since Charles B. Orwig won the Democratic nomination for state treasurer in 1920.

Mr. Armstrong won in a three-man race against Christ H. Armbruster of Napoleon, O, and Thomas Mulcahy of Cleveland. His rival in the November election, State Treasurer Don H Eoright, was uncontested for the Republican nomination.

Mr. Armstrong was paymaster at the Scioto Ordnance Plant, and is a former deputy county treasurer of Lucas county at Toledo He is a Newark native and attended Denison university.

BENDER'S VOTE TOTAL MOUNTS

Clevelander Piles Up Big Lead; 17 Republicans, 11 Democrats Unopposed.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, May 10 — George H Bender, Cleveland Republican, rolled up the largest vote of any candidate facing opposition in winning renomination as congressman-at-large and other incumbent congressmen in both parties won smashing victories over opponents by margins of better than two-to-one in yesterday's primary.

Twenty-eight candidates — 17 Republicans and 11 Democrats — were nominated without opposition Fifteen of the unopposed Republicans are incumbents All three Democratic incumbents were opposed. Ohio's congressional delegation totals 23.

Nomination was tantamount to reelection for two Republicans because no one sought the Democratic nomination in their districts The two are Thomas A Jenkins of Ironton (Tenth district), who has been in congress since first elected in 1924, and Alvin F. Weichel of Sandusky (13th district), now serving his first term

With 6,651 of the State's 9,180 polling places reported, Bender piled up 191 004 votes to 58,435 for his nearest opponent, Hayden Edwards, Columbus realtor. Wil-

ASKS 15 BILLIONS TO MAINTAIN ARMY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 10—President Roosevelt asked congress today for new appropriations for the Army totaling $15,676,652,700, which would bring the total contemplated expenditures for military purposes up to $19,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

"The estimates," a White House statement said, "contemplate the maintenance and operation of an army of 7,700,000 officers, men and women on the offensive in a global war through June 30, 1945."

In addition to the $15,000,000,000 in new appropriations, the statement explained, there will be available in the fiscal year starting July 1, $33,607,263,800 of unobligated balances from current appropriations

The $49,000,000,000 outlay for the next fiscal period compares with a preliminary budget estimate, submitted to congress last January, of $52,300,000,000, and with a $71,500,000,000 program approved by congress for the present fiscal year

Germans Strive To Tighten Their Defense on 4th Anniversary of Drive To Channel

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 10—The Germans were reported striving hastily to tighten up their soaken western defenses on this fourth anniversary of the Nazi drive through the low countries as the gigantic British - American air campaign developed new aspects pointing toward a climax in preparation for invasion D-day.

Thus the war in the west had swung in a full cycle, reversing the position of May 10, 1940, when the Germans, supreme in the air and on the ground, sent their legions crashing into Belgium and the Netherlands in the all-conquering blitzkrieg which led quickly to Dunkerque and the collapse of France.

With conclusive defeat in the air staring him in the face, Adolf Hitler has designated 29-year-old Maj. Gen Oberst Pelz to command German air forces in the west and ordered him to assemble a force to combat the impending allied invasion, said reliable advices from underground Europe.

Pelz was given the task of keeping together a force to strike back at the invasion fleets—no matter what damage the homeland suffers in the meantime.

German plane manufacture was reported cut to four or five types of fighters and bombers.

No matter what the Germans do, even the most conservative American and British air leaders are agreed the allies can win full control of the air within seven to 10 days after the invasion starts

In addition to the enormous acceleration in allied attacks—in the first 10 days of this month there has been almost as much activity as in the two previous months—there were at least three new phases noted:

(1) The RAF's new attacks against German ammunition dumps and other critical concentrations, (2) the two-ply tactical bombing of both railroad junctions and airfields, and (3) the speeded up drive against railroads and bridges.

Enemy Losses Heavy in Burma

Mountbatten's Jungle Fighters Taking Toll in North-Central Area.

By The Associated Press

The allies announced today for the first time that Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's jungle fighters are inflicting heavy losses on the Japanese in a new offensive operation in north-central Burma

And U S naval leaders gave Japan's war lords something else to worry about when it was announced Admirals Ernest J. King, Chester W. Nimitz and William F. Halsey conferred in San Francisco Sunday, probably cooking up some new blows against the Japanese sea frontier

King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, presented Nimitz, commander-in-chief in the Pacific, with his second distinguished service medal for "sound judgment and masterful conduct" of Pacific operations. Halsey, allied commander in the South Pacific, had been similarly decorated.

Mountbatten's headquarters disclosed for the first time allied troops are battling the enemy south of Mogaung, thus creating a new threat to Japan's Mandalay-Myitkyina railroad, vital lifeline for Nipponese forces on the Burma-India front

Mountbatten's communique also told sharp blows have been struck against the Japanese at Mawlu, a village on the railroad 75 miles southwest of Mogaung

Southwest Pacific headquarters reported new raids on Japanese bases on the extreme northwestern section of Dutch New Guinea and central Pacific headquarters said Ponape, eastern guardian to the Caroline islands bastion of Truk, was bombed.

China's hard-pressed army, fighting desperately to hold the ancient city of Loyang in northern Honan province needs allied supplies immediately to stave off a major Japanese drive into the nation's heart, said Chang Pinghsun, councilor of the executive yuan

Altmaier Probable Committee Winner

Incomplete returns late this morning indicated Dr. C. J Altmaier of Marion won over Andrew Durbin of Kenton in the Eighth District Democratic state central committeeman contest yesterday

Totals for three out of the six counties in the district gave Altmaier 1,804 and Durbin 851, and Durbin's home county was among those reporting

Marion county gave Altmaier 1 257, Durbin 373 Hardin county gave Altmaier 362, Durbin 254 Morrow gave Altmaier 275, Durbin 224

TOM HERBERT RUNS CLOSE; LAUSCHE WINS

Cincinnatian Apparently Successful with Only a Few Precincts Unreported.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, O May 10 — Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati appeared to have won the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio on a basis of almost complete returns at 1 p m today

Associated Press returns from 9,115 of 9 180 polling places at 1 p m gave Paul M Herbert 137,146, Thomas J Herbert 136,-241, Albert F Payne 13 115, James Garfield Stewart 169 287

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, May 10 — Atty Gen Thomas J Herbert crawled to within 5,351 votes of James Garfield Stewart shortly before 2 p m today as their battle for the Republican nomination for governor developed into one of the closest races for a major office in years

The ever-tightening battle for the Republican nomination developed in the wake of a landslide that carried Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland to the Democratic nomination in yesterday's primary.

Mayor Stewart held throughout the night a lead that grew to 20,723 votes, only to see it drop to 18,103 on the basis of returns from 7,891 polling places at 9 20 a. m.

Lausche's opponents conceded him a sweeping victory and pledged the tousle-haired Cleveland born of Slovenian immigrant parents their full support in November

The amiable Lausche, backed by the CIO's political action committee and indorsed openly by the Democratic state chairman, slipped into the lead at the first and piled up such a margin two of his five opponents conceded early this morning

Returns from more than half of the state's 9,180 polling places gave him a plurality of 43,598 over Martin L. Sweeney, former Cleveland congressman, who was running second James W. Huffman, son-in-law of Vic Donahey, was a poor third.

Associated Press returns from 8601 of 9180 polling places at 12:15 p m, gave Walter Baertschi 8,402, Frank A Dye 10,962, James W. Huffman 32,267, Frank J Lausche 150,112, Frazier Reams 26,301, Martin L. Sweeney 80,100

Four Terms as Mayor

Stewart, big and jovial four-term mayor of Cincinnati, picked up the lead for the Republican nomination after trailing in early tabulations, and built his margin at one time to 20,723 over Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, with Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert only a trifle behind the attorney general. Albert F. Payne, Springfield manufacturer, did not figure substantially in the voting.

Stewart came out of Hamilton county with a tremendous lead and ran ahead in Montgomery, but trailed in other metropolitan counties He had the powerful Albert silent, backing of Ed D. Schorr, state Republican chairman.

His plurality in the home county amounted to about 10 to one Stewart polled a total of 40,667 votes, compared with only 4,377 for his combined opposition

William G Pickrel, party wheelhorse from Dayton, had no trouble winning over two opponents to gain the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator and the right to face Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati Republican, in the November election. Taft had no primary opposition.

Unofficial returns from 5710 of 9180 polling places: Marvin C. Harrison 39,863, Pickrel 66,924, John Taylor 39,941

The influence of labor's vote showed up strongly in Lausche's majority. His margains ran all the way from six-to-one on down in such counties as Cuyahoga, Mahoning, Summit, and Stark. And beyond that, he cleaned up in numerous non-labor counties, even in the areas where it had been thought that Huffman, with the support of former governor and U. S Senator Donahey, would run well. Last week Darrell S Jones of Newark, state Democratic chairman, came out flatly for the mayor.

Reams Concedes

Frazier Reams of Toledo conceded first, sending this message to Lausche:

"Congratulations upon your nomination. I wish you success in November. The voters have spoken. I am a party man. I will support the Democratic ticket in November."

Walter Baertschi, also of Toledo, conceded next.

Stiff battles developed among some of the minor state races,

PROSPECT JUNIORS AND SENIORS HOLD BANQUET

Annual Event Staged in School Gym Garden Setting.

The annual banquet of the junior and senior classes of Prospect High school was held in the school gymnasium Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

Decorations were in the seniors' colors, purple and white, and grass, shrubery, trellises and flowers transformed the gymnasium into a garden setting.

During the banquet the following program was given: welcome by Bill Davis; response by Stanley Kirby; piano solo by Mary Alice Pitts; junior class prophecy by members of the junior class; reading by Bob Cancro; class will by the senior class; vocal trio by Phyllis Knickel, Marian Baker and May Smeltzer accompanied by Anne Fleming, remarks by H. C. Secrest, school superintendent; clarinet solo by Jerry Davids accompanied by Mary Alice Pitts.

After the program the juniors entertained the seniors and faculty at a party in the Palace theater in Marion.

"CONSTIPATION GONE —THREW PILLS AWAY"

"Year's trial convinces me All-Bran's a better way"

Why go on dosing? Read this sincere, unsolicited letter from an ex-constipation sufferer:

"I'm a regular listener to radio programs featuring KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Pleased to say my breakfast every morning for over a year has been a generous bowl of ALL-BRAN. It gives such wonderful relief I've thrown out all pills and other purgatives. ALL-BRAN'S a much greater way to aid regularity. Others with constipation like mine really should try it." Mrs. J. F. Grubb, 4106 N. Broadway, Fountain City, Knoxville, Tenn.

This seeming magic makes plain common sense. You see, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really get at a common cause of constipation—lack of dietary cellulosic elements—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They help the friendly flora to fluff up and prepare colonic contents for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't sweep you out. It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real lasting relief. Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Poppy Day Founder Dies in Athens, Ga.

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Ga., May 10—Miss Moina Michael, who originated "Poppy Day" in 1918 as a memorial to the war dead, died in a hospital early today after an illness of several months.

Known as the "poppy lady," she also originated the annual memorial to soldiers and sailors who died at sea in the first World war. Yearly she made a seven-foot anchor of popples, setting it adrift at Savannah, Ga., until 1930. Thereafter, the anchors were launched by naval authorities at Annapolis.

President Roosevelt told Miss Michael in 1938 "I know all about you. You started a wonderful work."

PROTEST "CELEBRATION"

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 10—An American Legion post and labor organizations have protested against plans to welcome the invasion of Europe with whistles and ringing of church bells. A resolution signed yesterday said such a demonstration "would be too much like a celebration which should be withheld until final victory." A similar resolution was approved by the Mingo Junction post of the American Legion and the Jefferson county trade and labor association.

NATIONAL INCOME SET AT 142 BILLION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 10—The average person in the United States had $232 more income in 1943 than in 1942, Sales Management magazine reported yesterday.

In its 15th annual survey of buying power, the magazine estimated that national income of $142,075,097,000 last year provided a per capita income of $1,103 the country over. This is 31 per cent higher than the comparable figure for 1940, even after adjustments for increased personal taxes and higher costs of living.

"Every state shares substantially in the record gains," the report said. New York had the greatest gain of $2,059,972,000, while Vermont's increase of $16,261,000 was the lowest. In seven states—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Texas and California—income jumped $1,000,000,000 or more over 1942.

The breakdown of income figures emphasizes concentration of purchasing power in a few states. Almost 60 per cent of the total national income was shared by ten states—New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Texas, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Missouri. They accounted for 57.54 per cent of the country's retail sales.

LAUSCHE PLEDGES ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 10—Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, apparent victor in the Ohio Democratic gubernatorial primary, today pledged himself to "those policies of government that will do the greatest good for the greatest number of people."

"I promise the people of Ohio," Lausche stated after taking an overwhelming lead on the basis of incomplete unofficial returns, "that on election day in November and thereafter I will not be tied, but will be in the clear position of giving expression and execution to those policies of government that will do the greatest good for the greatest number of people."

The mayor expressed gratitude to the voters "for the aid and approval given my candidacy."

"This is, however, no time for rejoicing," he added, "but rather requires a serious recognition of the responsibilities that have been entrusted to me by the voters of my state.

"The favorable results of the primary are especially gratifying because they have been achieved with a modest expenditure of money and without any commitments whatsoever except those which I made to the entire citizenry of the state of Ohio.

"In the campaign for election I will positively follow the same course I pursued in the primary. I ask all citizens regardless of political affiliations, who desire good government to join with me in the same purpose and cause of making Ohio one of the best governed states in the union."

LECTURE HEARD BY ENGINEERS

O. S. U. Professor Discusses Gas Turbines and Jet Propulsion.

The Marion Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers held their May meeting in Delaware Monday night, the main address being a lecture on gas turbines delivered by Professor C. A. Norman of Ohio State university.

Professor Norman gave an outline of his background in engineering, being a native of Sweden and having come to the United States in 1902. He later returned to Europe and spent several years in Russia where he first became interested in gas turbines and after returning to the United States did considerable development work on such equipment at General Electric company.

Professor Norman, in his lecture illustrated with slides traced the development of turbines.

Jet Propulsion Discussed

The jet propulsion airplane was also discussed by Professor Norman, this operating on the same basic principle as the gas turbine. He said the jet propulsion idea is far from new, an early application of this principle being illustrated by a slide showing a steam jet propelled carriage developed by Sir Isaac Newton in the year 1680. It was Professor Norman's opinion that jet propelled aircraft would not be suitable for post war air transport use due to the very high fuel consumption. He stated, however, that jet propelled fighter planes would most certainly be developed by other countries, and research and experimentation must be continued by American engineers for the protection of this country in the event of future wars.

An informal question and answer period followed in which jet propelled aircraft and rocket ships were further discussed. Professor Norman forecast that in another 20 years some of the rocket ship ideas of today will not appear so fantastic.

Marion Man Presides

Approximately 60 members and guest engineers attended the meeting, which was preceded by a dinner in the banquet hall of Buns restaurant. After the dinner the guests were introduced and a business meeting followed which was presided over by President Floyd G. Browne of Marion. Engineer Jack Saltsinger, trustee of the Marion Chapter, reported on a meeting of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers which he had attended representing the Marion Chapter. At this meeting, he reported, the final standings for the 1943 registraion trophy award were disclosed and the Marion Chapter ranked fifth among the 27 chapters of the Ohio society.

New Members Welcomed

Engineer Marion Cole, vice president, introduced and welcomed four new members of the Marion Chapter, George H. Pe... of the Probst Supply comp... Loy D. Rhoads of the Geners... cavator company, Jack E. G... of the Alloy Cast Steel comp... and Charles C. Whysall of the Marion Water company.

Engineer Steve Kuhner, chairman of the program committee announced the June meeting would be held in Marion at which a speaker has been scheduled to give an illustrated talk on the Alcan Highway. Mr. Kuhner then introduced Professor Norman and his lecture followed.

3 Japanese Women Indicted in Denver

By The Associated Press

DENVER, May 10— A federal grand jury yesterday indicted three Japanese women on a charge of treason which grew out of the escape of two German prisoners of war from the Trinidad, Colo., camp last Oct. 17.

The indictments gave the names of the women as Tsuruko (Toots) Wallace, Florence (Flo) Otani and Billie Shitara Tanigoshi. All were residents of the Amache relocation center in southern Colorado.

The women were accused of comforting and aiding in the escape of Cpls. Heinrich Haider, 31, and Herman August Loescher, 31. The prisoners were captured at Watrous, N. Mex., Oct. 19.

Investigation of the women followed publication of pictures showing men prisoners embracing Japanese women.

Sedition Trial Lawyer Found Guilty of Contempt

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 10—Justice Jennings Bailey of federal district court today found James J. Laughlin, Washington lawyer, guilty of contempt of court for his conduct as attorney for two defendants in the mass sedition trial and fined him $150.

Laughlin immediately served notice of appeal, and Justice Bailey said he would stay the fine on condition Laughlin post bond of $300.

Bailey said in his opinion various motions filed by Laughlin were for the purpose of embarrassing Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding judge of the sedition trial, and to attract publicity for the purpose of disqualifying prospective jurors.

Before World War II the United States imported more than a million tons of cinnamon from Ceylon annually.

ABOUT ANYTHING

In and Around Marion

Save the Flowers

What about having a National Don't Pick Wildflowers Week? The other day in a wooded area which is easily accessible to many people who no longer have the opportunity to go to the country we noticed several people picking violets and dogwood. The pity of the whole thing is that the flowers don't last after they are picked. Why not leave them where they are for everyone to enjoy instead of taking them into our own homes for a few hours of selfish pleasure?

Deceptive

The artificial dandelions used in a downtown window display as part of the decorations look so real we have found quite a few meticulous property owners who look as if they would love to uproot them from the otherwise perfect green "lawn."

Oil 'Em Up

Those creaks, groans and violent crackings are the protesting weary bones of persons who have been doing house cleaning. Gardening seems to have the same effect at first too but at least the gardeners later have the satisfaction of something substantial and all housecleaners get is the chance to do the whole thing over again in a couple of months.

Uncovered

This is the one time that Marionites may look into the various offices in the city building and see what goes on. House cleaning is being done there and like more humbler buildings, the curtains and drapes are down, leaving bared windows.

Louder Than Words

We have heard all kinds of comments, ranging from peculiar to ridiculous remarks, about women's hats, but one member of the fair sex said the other day that when she modeled a new bonnet, her husband, instead of commenting took one look and started to laugh.

On the Bias

Either His Honor the Mayor was attempting to start a new fashion the other day or he was in a terrific hurry to eat his dinner. We saw him hurrying down the street and when he turned around with a smiling hello—his vest was buttoned unevenly.

Just for Fun

If you have nothing to do some time and want a piece of individual fancy work, write your first name in letters about an inch high on a folded sheet of paper with the bottom of the signature on the fold. The first letter should be a capital of course. Then cut around the lines leaving it in one piece. Open and you find an intriguing design. Some women are using such signatures for a needlework pattern.

Lots of Miscellany

One Marion mother who was expecting her daughter home from school recently answered the door at 6 a. m. and found her living room filled with the following: three young women (just one daughter), 9 suitcases; 4 small bags, 4 packages wrapped in paper and tied with string; 59 coat hangers, 36 books, 3 umbrellas, 3 raincoats and 3 miscellaneous coats. The girls had made the trip from their school with the belongings and lost just one book.

Summer Noises

Shades of summer! A group of high school boys were swinging down the street last week making the most peculiar noise. Remember those odd leaves (?) from oak trees that make an unearthly squeak when you put them on your tongue and blow across them? Well the season is here again and each new crop of youngsters know instinctively how to use them.

Headgear

Members of the male sex have ridiculed the head scarfs worn by the majority of women and girls during the past few months that the looks cast by the men on a recent windy day were envious instead of criticizing. More than one man tore down the street with his topper rolling merrily along just a foot or so ahead.

Hose Trouble

Wonder why you can wear hose or socks almost for weeks without sprouting a hole until the day you decide to see about buying a new pair of shoes. Funny how a naked toe dangling through a newly worn hole can bring your self-confidence down to zero.

New Complaint

A grocer on the east side thought that when the meat points were recently taken off most meats the customers would be satisfied. It seems it didn't work that way. One lady who stated she complained because she never had enough points continued her complaints, but changed her reason to "What am I going to do with all those points?"

Snake Scare

A snake scare had all hands at the Home Federal Savings and Loan company a little shaky recently when J. D. Moore of 451 Oakley avenue brought a "rattlesnake" into the office. The snake was in a box over which a wire screen had been placed. J. J. Stafford, president, absolutely refused when permission was asked to display the "reptile" in the window of the loan company. About the time everyone was beginning to be a bit jittery about the whole thing, it was disclosed that the "rattler" was artificial.

Effective Strategy

Various musical events taking place in Marion bring audience manners into the limelight again. One musical friend was sitting in an audience not long ago and heard two ladies talking. She had hopes that the discussion would end. Finally, she turned to her small daughter who had let out a peep and gave a demonstrative order to 'hush.' The order had its effect as the women "hushed" too.

Dandelion Pooch

A new use for dandelions was discovered by one Marion family last week. They have a puppy that doesn't quite know what to make of everything yet so when they turn him loose in the yard he starts munching dandelion blooms. No ill effects have been noted. P. S. The pup seems to be a flower lover. At least he likes to play in the flower beds.

Appropriate

The recent Fine Arts Day had many exhibits to delight the patrons of art who visited the displays. One of the most colorful features was the Fiesta room complete with palm trees, Mexican pottery and gaily dressed senoritas from all of Latin America. Even the hotel seemed to have changed its name to conform to the general theme of the day. Wednesday evening the west side of the large green star on the building was noticed by one observant person to read El Harem.

Woodsy Spot

One Marion back yard that we noticed the other day has a touch of the woods in it. In a shady corner are located several jack-in-the-pulpit plants which are about ready to blown and some wild trillium flowers.

Maybe a Nazi

The recent dog quarantine in Marion brings to mind a true story told by a visitor from another city. It seems the receptionist at a hospital in another Ohio city answered the phone one night to be told by a frantic father that his dog had just bitten his little boy. The young lady told the man to bring the child in immediately. He asked if two hours would be soon enough as it would be difficult for him to get there any earlier. The receptionist asked the man if it were a child dog whereupon he replied, "Oh no indeed, it's a German Shepherd!"

Wire Assemblies for Liberator Bombers Made at Marion Plant

The Scioto Ordnance Plant production line taken over by the H. & K. Appliance Co of Lima includes the buildings shown in the accompanying photographs. The buildings were so arranged that they could be adapted to the new company's activities with a minimum of changes.

* * *

Production Swings Into High Gear as Part of Drive To Smash the Enemy.

The H. & K. Appliance Co., one of the new group of industries that has grown up at the Scioto Ordnance Plant site, is rapidly swinging into high gear in the production of wiring assemblies for big Liberator bombers being used to smash the enemy.

Sam Kamin of Lima, one of the partners of the new Marion concern, said approximately 85 workers are now on the job and that 200 more, most of them women, will be needed before the end of the month to increase the output of the plant to near capacity.

Hundreds of miles of wire will pour through the Marion assembly plant when production reaches its peak, emerging in the form of a harness that will fit into a Liberator and serve its complex wiring requirements.

It takes seven miles of wire to make all the Liberator controls function, and converting the wire from its original rolls into the completed wiring harnesses is the job being done at the Marion factory.

The assembly job, as a whole, is a carefully engineered and complicated piece of equipment, but the work is broken down into small bits for individual workers and can be learned in the matter of a few hours, Mr Kamin pointed out. Each wire is numbered every six inches a feature that makes it possible for Liberator crews to improvise some repairs while in action if a bullet tears away part of the wiring assembly.

The Lima concern started moving its equipment into the plant several weeks ago, and has gradually increased operations to the point that production can be stepped up to near capacity by the end of the month, Mr. Kamin said.

D-Day Army's Way Of Talking of Invasion

By The Associated Press

The term "D-day," now prominent in the news from Britain, is an army expression used to refer to, but not reveal, the time fixed for a military action such as an attack on a local front or the start of an invasion.

Similar verbal camouflage is "H-hour," the exact minute for action on "D-day." The expressions are this war's counterpart of the World war I term "zero-hour," the time when troops "went over the top" from their trenches to attack the enemy.

In discussing high strategy commanders may frequently mention "D-day" even though all present know exactly what day is meant. Thus the secret is safe—even if the walls have ears.

LIKENS CHAPEL ROAD WORK UNDER WAY

Rebuilding of Section Near War Plant Started.

Work was begun yesterday by the U. S. Constructions Co. of Upper Sandusky for reconstruction of the one-mile portion of the Likens Chapel road which extends from East Fairground street to the entrance of the Scioto Ordnance Plant, County Engineer Walter Jonnson reported.

The contract calls for placing 1,260 tons of No. 23 limestone and 490 tons of No. 7 stone on the roadway and the grading of berms and ditches at a cost of $3,350.

Under an agreement reached by the county engineer's office and the U. S. Corps of Engineers, the county will be reimbursed by the war department for reconstruction program, and a government inspector will be furnished through the U. S. Corps of Engineers office at the ordnance plant. James T. Johnston will represent the county engineer's office in supervision of the work. The road will be closed during the reconstruction program.

Later, the county plans to follow the reconstruction program with an application of asphalt to give the rebuilt road a black top. Also, the portion of East Fairground street connecting the city pavement with the Likens Chapel road is included in the county resurfacing program.

Soldier on Furlough Does Home Front Job

Pfc. Robert Rowland, who was home on furlough last week from Camp Phillips, Kansas, contributed his bit to relieving the manpower shortage in the farming industry. While spending an eight-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Rowland of Fairground street, he used his father's tractor to plow a neighbor's garden. This was a job usually done each year by the father but because of the shortage of help Mr Rowland was going to be unable to do it this year, as he plants 10 acres at his home on Fairground street as well as a larger tract farther out in the country.

Two other sons of the Rowlands are also in the service. Pvt. G. G. Rowland entered in April and is now stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., and James Rowland, machinist's mate third class is in New Guinea.

Murray also hailed the little steel wage formula in the same address with the remark, "I was present at its baptism, I participated in its confirmation, and by the grace of God I hope to attend its wake soon."

The CIO chief, who indorsed President Roosevelt for a fourth term during his address, received a letter from the Chief Executive containing "hearty greetings and good wishes" to the convention.

"It is a source of satisfaction to the nation that the work performed by American wage earners in the manufacture and delivery of munitions and implements of war is having such a vital effect on every sector of the far-flung battle fronts," the President wrote.

"The effort has been splendid and the scale, speed and capacity and cooperation have made an industrial output which has never been equalled."

Continuation of the drive "to maintain and, if possible, increase our production levels," was urged by the President.

The President's Vacation

NO disrespect is meant and no hidden meaning should be read into the statement that the President's vacation from which he has just returned has done us all good.

Mr. Roosevelt is reported rested and in "excellent shape." His four weeks' absence from Washington indicates that other things beside the executive are in good condition. It indicates a fine satisfaction with the way things are going in the war and confidence in the future.

The President has never been one to delegate major problems to others. He has wanted no hand but his own on the helm when dangerous waters were being crossed. The fact that he retired to the Carolina coast for fishing and relaxation indicates, better than anything else, that the course is well charted and that even though he cannot assure smooth sailing he is confident things are going well.

There are definite indications that the President feels the time is at hand for active work on postwar problems which will come with Victory. Return of Ambassador Harriman from Russia and Undersecretary of State Stettinius from his important meetings in London, timed to coincide with Mr. Roosevelt's arrival at his desk, point to vital conversations during the days immediately ahead.

Sticking to the Point

THE war department's obvious intention of fairness in the handling of political information to the Army is detailed in a recent statement of policy. It is going to be a ticklish job, with critics waiting to pounce, but at least it is being approached without weasel-wording.

There is a corresponding obligation on the part of candidates to do likewise. What they have to say must be said concisely enough to be comprehended by men who will be in no mood for bombast. The information made available to service men will be a boomerang if candidates, themselves, do not adapt themselves to the chore the war department will perform.

To a very great extent, of course, service men will follow the recommendations of their relatives in correspondence with them. That will be an additional reason for clarity and conciseness. A V-mail letter will not convey the quality of a speaking voice on the radio, nor the photogenic quality of a face, nor any of the things which sometimes are believed to make and destroy political support. And no V-mail letter can do justice to the argument that Brown is a better man than White because Brown's brother-in-law is in a position to do someone some good. Reduced to capsule form, political reasoning in 1944 must make sense. It is possible that one of the least bombastic campaigns in history will grow out of the necessity for sticking to the point.

The Bombers' Job Is Ending

THERE is as yet no clearly conceived idea of the future work that will be assigned to the huge British-American bomber fleets when their job of destroying German war production is over. The job is ending now; proof is the increasing attention being given invasion defenses. Long-range strategic bombing has been tapering off.

The heavy bombers are not well adapted to the function of tactical warfare; they are specialized machines for long-range destruction, where maneuverability is not an important factor. Bombers may be making their farewell appearance as the main offensive arm of the Allies in the west. It is significant that on the eastern front heavy bombers have been relatively unimportant, being supplanted in the chief aerial role by planes better adapted to tactical fighting.

The heavy bombers' next major job, apparently, will be Japanese war production, a similar but not identical problem to the one solved by Allied air chiefs in Europe. Its solution in Japan would entail possession of air bases close enough to Japanese industry to make bombing practicable, a reminder of how much remains to be done before the war in Asia approaches even the present stage of the war in Europe.

Service Without Glamor

WHEN the story of civilian war services is compiled, the records of the nurses' aids will have a place of honor.

These girls and women have averted a breakdown in civilian hospital operation which safeguards the health of war workers and the rest of the people on the home front. With most of the graduate nurses enlisted in the armed services, hospitals at home would have been hopelessly understaffed but for these volunteers.

They perform routine services, they receive no pay except the satisfaction that they are filling a vital place on the important home front. Their loyalty and efficiency has won praise from hospital administrators and their cheerful ministrations have won the gratitude of patients.

The hospitals need more of them and there is no place in which civilian womanhood can serve where the work is more urgently needed or where the accomplishments can be demonstrated more clearly.

News Behind the News

Teacher Writing on School Handling of Sex Information Criticized.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 10—An apparent unmarried lady principal of a junior high school rises right up in the April magazine of her teachers association and demands point blank:

"Where do we stand?" on sex.

She makes clear where she stands, as follows:

"We in school can no longer ignore our responsibility for conditioning the shock (of sex) with information; for curing the pre-occupation by satisfying curiosity with knowledge; for lightening the load of fear, worry, guilt and shame that so many children carry; for preventing the beauty of life from which comes the literature, poetry, art and music of romantic love. . . ."

"Nor can we fail to supply mother substitutes in whom children can confide. Adolescents face certain development tasks with which they need help. Then if ever, they must wage the battle of gradual emancipation from parents" (at junior high school age).

Now here is a well-meaning lady who unwittingly demonstrates her own incapacity to teach the most difficult subject of all human behavior. Her thoroughly nice idea, I assume, is to raise the conceptions of sex to a higher plane.

"Romantic Love"

In short, she would teach "romantic love" under the title of social hygiene. Would this cure juvenile delinquency or mitigate it or make the children any different?

Inasmuch as this subject now seems to have entered school curricula rather generally, it can hardly be termed taboo for common sense discussion. All the children whom Miss Whosis wants to teach her own higher appreciation of romance, collecting their sex secrets as a mother substitute and aiding their emancipation from their parents—all of them have parents who also have their own ideas of romance, sex, mothers and emancipation.

Sex is the most personal problem of human existence. No two people will have precisely the same ideas about it. Attitudes vary as much as individual personalities. Mothers who have any interest in their children at all will insist on raising their children with their own personal notions on these subjects at least.

Parents' Stand

I doubt if they will stand for Miss Whosis and anyone in school teaching ideas at variance with their own. I know I would not let her teach my child after reading her article which leads me to believe she is not competent on this subject.

Who is competent? Some people say a psychiatrist or a physician. Yet it is evident their attitudes also differ widely, range the whole course from radicalism to conservatism, from Freudism to puritanism. To have them teach sex in the schools would be as unsatisfactory as having the preachers of all religions try to teach their individual religions in the schools.

This movement is part of the whole false philosophy that has seeped into the very blood of this nation in recent years to bring us such problems as juvenile delinquency, declines in discipline and scholarship—the philosophy of free expression, self-indulgence as being good for the individual.

Conflict Inevitable

The realities of life are not in accord with that philosophy. The laws of nature and of the land work on a contrary principle, the Christian principle of restraint and discipline. Some of the movie stars who recently have been in the courts can testify to that.

Only fools follow in their actual lives the "pleasure-pain" philosophy of modernism which holds that which causes me pleasure is good and pain is bad. Momentary pleasures can cause a lifetime of pain; whereas out of pain many men have grown strong and great.

What should be taught is discipline, self discipline, and the place to teach that first is in the home. That is the reality principle, what is really good for the individual, the community and the nation. That is where we should stand.

Yet such nonsense as Miss Whosis proposes to teach has a hold on the thinking of a large class in this country, and may have to run its course and expose its own futility and stupidity to its advocates before we get back to common sense.

The Cotton Goods Scarcity

By James D. White
Associated Press Writer.

WASHINGTON—The government is mapping a campaign to avoid the rationing of clothing—particularly in the low-priced cotton garments which are scarcest. Hardest-to-find clothes appear to include work clothes for both men and women, work gloves, children's clothes, women's housedresses, men's shirts, underwear and night clothes, and handkerchiefs.

To avoid rationing—as it is committed to do—the government may have to raise ceiling prices on such items.

But this might not make much difference to the consumer, who today often has to buy a more expensive "substitute" article anyway because he can't find what he wants.

25 Per Cent Shortage Now

There are several reasons why low-priced cotton clothing is scarce—so scarce, in fact, that the government estimates there'll be a 25 per cent shortage for all civilian cotton goods this year and perhaps a 50 per cent shortage in the more inexpensive items unless something is done soon.

But the millions of yards of many kinds of cotton goods—uniforms are just one item—used by the armed forces takes a big bite out of the available total.

Next, manufacturers of cotton cloth and garments have just as much trouble with the manpower problem as any industry in the country, authorities say.

Price ceilings have had a definite effect on the supply of the so-called "low-end" lines of clothing — or the low - priced lines where profits are small anyway. The tendency of manufacturers has been to add a frill here, a color there, and make a different "classier" garment which could be sold at a higher price.

For example, women's housedresses are hard to find. That's because the addition of a "thingamajig" made it a street dress which would command a higher price.

And witness men's shorts. Plain ungarnished shorts used to sell for as low as 35 cents. Today, you may have to pay $1.25 for the nearest approach—and today the darned things are likely to be made of wild-colored prints.

Now the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board are getting together to fix this. Privately officials admit they're late getting started, but they think they've got the answers to the problem.

Here's what they're thinking of doing:

First, they're going to allocate a definite amount of unfinished cotton cloth to civilian consumption. As the situation has been, civilians in effect got what was left over after military, industrial and Lend-Lease requirements were met. The new plan would put civilian allocations ahead of export claims and on much the same basis as military and industrial demands.

Next the present practice of "freezing" looms on the production of certain urgently needed types of cloth would be extended. OPA would raise ceiling prices to make up losses.

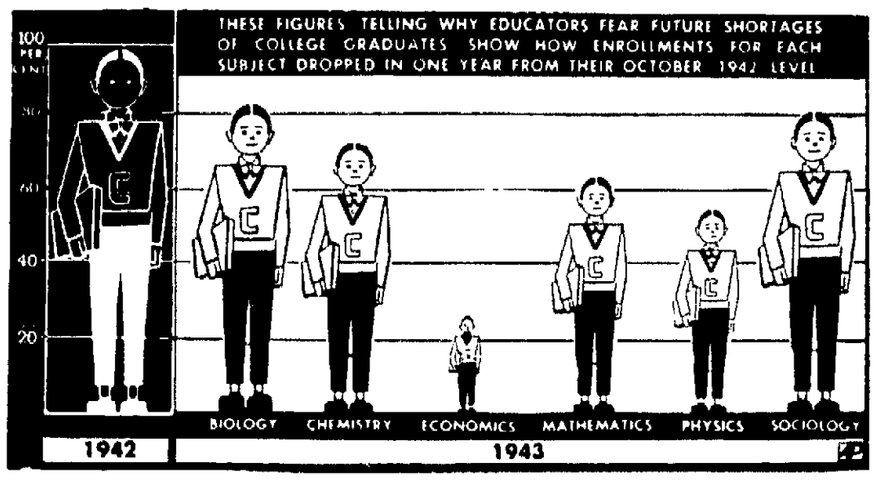
Special production programs for the scarcest items are suggested, with OPA fixing dollars-and-cents ceilings on each item as the program gets under way. Authority for this—and for subsidies if they are necessary—was provided months ago by Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson.

These steps are necessary, it's figured, because war requirements are expected to be heavier rather than lighter toward the end of the year. Even if the European war ended tomorrow, the demands for relief probably would preclude increased domestic supplies, it's held.

However the whole program—particularly in relation to subsidies and higher prices—will be regulated most carefully, government men say, because a steady increase in clothing prices could menace the whole price and inflation control structure.

The campaign to increase the flow of low-priced cotton goods to consumers is not likely to come with a splash, but as a series of thoroughly planned steps to turn the textile and clothing industry back into the production of sturdy staple items instead of cheap luxury "substitutes."

War's Impact on Education



BY JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — War is eating a hole in the stockpile of educated Americans.

It has taken 10 per cent of the high school students, 44 per cent of the college students, 60 per cent of the nation's graduate students, U. S. Office of Education figures show that over an age-span of 11 years, an average of 38 per cent of those who normally would be going to school are in war jobs or the armed forces.

Prominent educators, like Ray Lyman Wilbur, chancellor of Stanford University, are concerned. They fear that after the war we shall wake up and find that so many young Americans missed getting an education during the war that we shall be short of doctors, dentists, chemists, biologists, engineers and other technicians.

Science Hard Hit

The number of men in technical studies today is one-third below normal, and "far below our national needs," according to Dr. Wilbur.

"We have no idea where future doctors are coming from for the civilian populace," he says.

"It is a national folly to overlook these fields," he continues, "when one scientific discovery, such as radar, may be equal to what a hundred thousand men might do."

Here is the picture of what has been happening to American student bodies, as gathered by the Office of Education:

Total enrollment in the upper two grades of high school is down 15 per cent for boys, 5 per cent for girls. Thus an average of one out of every ten juniors and seniors has left high school for war work of some kind. Many of them are making good money, may get married and never go back to school.

Last year there were 1,120,300 American college students, but only 761,630 of these were non-military, and they were but 41 per cent of the non-military students in college before the war.

"The loss of the nation in terms of technical advancement, cultural education and civic competency has become a problem of the first magnitude," says Benjamin W. Frazier and Henry G. Badger, specialists in teacher training in the Office of Education.

A report they have prepared indicates where the shortages are going to show up later on.

There are about two girls to every boy now in college, whereas only a year ago the ratio was two girls for every three boys. Enrollments in home economics are 111.6 per cent of what they were a year ago. But comparisons between the figures of October, 1943, and the year before show drops in the following subjects: Biology, down to 85 per cent; economics; 27 per cent; mathematics, 65 per cent; physics, 59 per cent; sociology, 84 per cent.

A Vital Problem

Dr. Frazier reports that there are only 42 per cent of the engineering students in college this year compared to last year. Graduate students have fallen off 60 per cent, down to 32,000.

Frazier says that "the seriousness of this loss in terms of the post-war recruitment of college teachers scarcely can be overemphasized . . . It will come at a time when the return to the classrooms of hundreds of thousands of veterans, war workers and others whose college education was deferred, will demand a sharp increase in the number of specially qualified college staff members."

On the whole blackout of educational time by a third of the nation's youth, Frazier says: "It's one of the inevitable losses of war. The nearest thing to a remedy is to get the war over as quickly as possible."

"Invited" To Pay

By The Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss.—Bootleggers in "dry" Mississippi are receiving printed tax-form "invitations" to pay a tax of 10 per cent on their gross sales of whiskey—illegal in the state. The new law, enacted by the Legislature, aims to discourage black markets by imposing a tax equal to 10 per cent of the gross sales, retail or wholesale, of any commodity prohibited by law.

The words "whiskey" and "Bootlegging" do not appear in the text of the bill, but Gov. Thomas L. Bailey admits it is aimed directly at the moonshine trade.

Men who return the tax forms being sent them by the state tax collector could find themselves in a rather uneasy situation, but there is an unwritten and unspoken "gentleman's agreement" that bootleggers who pay the tax will not be prosecuted for possession by the State government.

This, notwithstanding that payment of the tax "would not relieve the taxpayer from further prosecution in the courts and would not legalize the sale of whiskey," authors of the bill said.

Sixty-one per cent of the Burmese men and 17 per cent of the women are literate.

The Harvard college library has about doubled in size every 20 years for more than a century.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

International Currency Pool

SCENE: First meeting of the [illegible] nations.

Uncle Sam (benevolently).—Well, boys, are you all ready to proceed with My idea of an international money pool?

All.—Are we! On, boy!

• • •

Uncle Sam.—I thought perhaps some of you might have better ideas.

A Loud Voice.—Not at all. We couldn't have done better if we had thought it up ourselves.

John Bull.—Come, gentlemen, let us not seem too enthusiastic. This is a matter that calls for dignity, poise and calm.

Voice From the Rear.—Let Uncle Sam turn over the money and we will furnish the dignity.

• • •

England.—Quiet, please!

A Small Nation.—How can we be quiet with so much money involved?

England.—This stabilization pool to which America contributes more than any other nation is a splendid thing. This great, virile nation, this vigorous young leader of world thought, this flower of civilization.

Uncle Sam (blushing).—That's not necessary, John. I'm not being nominated for anything.

A Voice.—That's what YOU think!

John Bull.—I merely wanted to say it with flowers.

Uncle Sam (weakly).—This is a money pool, not a flower pool.

China.—Let us proceed, please. My currency is so sick it can't wait.

A Small Nation.—What's wrong with it?

China.—What isn't!

Uncle Sam.—I can't understand how a country can get into the money troubles China got into.

China.—Have patience. You will!

• • •

France.—We're wasting time. Let's get down to business.

John Bull.—I take it we are ready to come to order. Are all the delegates seated? The clerk will call the roll.

Uncle Sam (nervously).—I wish you wouldn't emphasize that word "roll."

• • •

John Bull.—I pronounce the meeting in session. The first business will be the singing of our national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Several Nations.—That isn't OUR national anthem.

John Bull.—It is until we get this money!

• • •

(The thirty-two nations sing the anthem with extra gusto. There is a whirring of gears, a loud metallic click and a clatter of quarters. It is thought that somebody has just won a jackpot, but it turns out to have been Uncle Sam giving an imitation.)

• • •

John Bull.—Order, please. All speeches must be limited to three minutes. Speakers must show their credentials. The nominating speeches will be made in English. I request that the delegations refrain from parading about the hall and . . .

France.—This is a banking operation, not a political meeting.

Several Voices.—Don't be too sure!

No Justice!

There seems to be no solace;
And, now, on top of all their woes
We send them Henry Wallace.

We favor stopping all speeches—now, at once—preferably a little sooner than Coxey's was stopped, and finish them a half century from now. It would be a great thing for morale.

Shoe Conservation

BY TRUMAN TWILL

The OPA says we should take care of our shoes the same as we take care of our tires, and that is real sensible. But what do we do about a spare when something goes wrong? We can't very well come in on the rim, and we can't call the shoe repair man out to make road repairs, either.

From now on when the boss sees our No. 9s propped up on a corner of the desk, it's not spring fever but conservation. Putting our feet on the desk is our sole pleasure.

No doubt movie ushers will not grumble as much from now on when women slip their No. 7 dogs out of their No. 6 tighties and kick one left one three rows forward and have to call for a flashlight to get it back. Shoes are ammunition.

Pedestrians who walk on tiptoes are not fugitives from institutions, and they aren't stalking anybody—just trying to keep from getting run heels and turning into stumble-bums. OPA says everybody is entitled to two pairs of shoes and can get supplemental rations in an emergency, but it doesn't say where the money should come from in an emergency.

The shoe conservation campaign should be the tipoff to those motorists who run over pedestrians toes at intersections that from now on it's not the toes that matter, but the shoes. A patriot can grow on a new toenail, but he can't grow on a new set of wing tips.

Walking for pleasure and driving for pleasure are now in the same category. In either case, an OPA inspector may pop up and ask, "Aren't you a little far from home, friend?"

Obviously, one of the things that will have to go is dancing—in shoes. Those sweet young things who are always talking at dances about somebody ruining their shoes can't be expected to sacrifice themselves any longer.

But it will be a break for the old man if womenfolk won't have to apologize for his goat any more when company catches him in his stocking feet. "See!" they can cry, pointing to the holes in his socks. "Popsy is contributing to the war effort. He is saving his shoes to put them on the mantel."

Some of us may go the limit and give up shoes altogether, except for formal occasions. It's only a few generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves, and it may turn out to be less trouble to go from bare feet to bare feet, warns the OPA. And to think that it was only a little while ago that an old shoe was just something that went with after happy bridal couples. They give them old shoes for wedding presents now.

Surgeons Use Tartar Cream

Substituted for Talcum Powder as Dusting Agent for Gloves.

By The United Press

ST. LOUIS—Cream of tartar has come out of the kitchen and into the operating room to save human lives.

Dr. M. G. Seelig, a St. Louis surgeon, explained his discovery recently in the Journal of the American Medical association. Cream of tartar can replace talcum powder as a dusting agent for surgeon's gloves.

For, Dr. Seelig reported, talc causes many kinds of complications after operations—adhesions, abdominal obstructions, peritonitis. Frequently, additional operations are needed because talc fragments sowed seeds of complications in the operating field, as they fell from the surgeon's rubber gloves.

Gloves Frequently Tear

Miss X, for instance, is going to have an appendectomy. The surgeon slips on a pair of rubber gloves, dusted with talc to aid him in donning them. He washes off the glove surface, but it's impossible to get off all the fragments. As he operates, a finger in one of the gloves tears and talc drops into the incision. Miss X doesn't recover from the operation as she should—she has adhesions and another operation is necessary.

Statistics show that in about 75 per cent of operations, surgeons gloves are torn. Dr. Seelig reported. Often the talc remains in the incision as an irritating foreign body.

But, the article continued, patients who have had several operations as a result of talc infections, have completely recovered after an operation where cream of tartar was used as a dusting powder in the surgeon's gloves.

Dr. Seelig with his assistants experimented with about 50 substitutes. He described the dusting agent they were seeking, one that wouldn't dissolve when gloves are sterilized under intense heat, one that wouldn't leave particles in incisions.

France a Main Source

They tried chalk because it's been used harmlessly in women's face powder for so many years. But it caused adhesions in experimental animals. And they tried starches—but starch dissolved under intense heat.

Cream of tartar was the answer.

Tartar is not yet in general use as a dusting agent, Dr. Seelig said. Doctors have large supplies of talc on hand. Also, one of the main sources of cream of tartar is unavailable on account of the war—the wine centers of France. For tartar comes from wine deposits.

"It's true, also," Dr. Seelig explained, "that tartar shortens the life of rubber gloves. But a pair of rubber gloves costs about 25 cents. Using tartar increase the cost about 12 cents.

"Operations can cost thousands of dollars—and human lives."

Hamilton County Has Given State Twelve Governors

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 10—Cincinnati's Mayor James Garfield Stewart, apparent Republican gubernatorial nominee, will be the thirteenth Hamilton county man to fill Ohio's highest public office—if he beats his Democratic opponent in the November balloting.

The pudgy, dimpled and smiling "favorite son" of the Queen City, who is serving his fifth term as city councilman and his third as mayor, would be the first Hamilton countian in the governor's mansion since Myers Y. Cooper 14 years ago.

None of Ohio's 87 other counties have sent as many governors as Hamilton. Since Othniel Looker of Harrison was elected to the office in 1814, Hamilton county men have been chosen on an average of once every 11 years. Mayor Stewart, known throughout the state and particularly in his home county as a "a guy who never says no to an invitation to speak before a public gathering," received an unprecedented plurality in Hamilton county, collecting 40,087 ballots out of a total of 45,562 cast in the county's 777 precincts.

Veteran Republicans pronounced it the most decisive verdict ever given any candidate in a Republican primary in the county.

Happily married, they disagree only when it comes to politics. He is seeking the Republican nomination for governor of New Mexico, while she seeks the Democratic nomination for the job.

Hugh Jenkins, former chairman of the bureau of unemployment compensation, took a slight lead over Harry T. 'RIDE' BRINGS CHARGE BY DRAFT OFFICIAL

By The Associated Press

EATON, O., May 10—A warrant charging Thomas W. R. Fawcett, 55-year-old dairy farmer and father of five children, with wilful obstruction of the selective service act, was in the hands of a U. S. marshal today after Dr. C. D. Turney, Preble county draft board chairman, reported he was taken for a 125-mile "ride" last Friday.

Alan H. Belmont, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Cincinnati, said Fawcett was subject to arrest, probably late today and would be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Charles Izlas at Dayton.

Belmont said there was no physical violence threatened or known before or during the alleged ride, and that Fawcett, just reclassified 1-A in the draft, apparently conceived the excursion as a means of demonstrating to Dr. Turney that "it takes a man who is physically fit to swing these (milk cans around)."

Fawcett was reclassified last Thursday Belmont said, and on Friday summoned Dr. Turney, a veterinarian, to his farm near New Paris, with a request that he treat a sick animal.

Belmont said Fawcett then "had Turney accompany him" on his milk route — which crosses the Ohio State line into Indiana —and that although there was no show or threat of violence, "Dr. Turney went along because Fawcett is a big and powerful man."

QUESTION OF NAZI PUNISHMENT STUDIED

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, May 10 — Delegates to the international labor conference continued heated arguments yesterday on whether the entire German people or the leaders alone should be punished after a United Nations victory.

The committee for axis territories has under consideration problems of workers who have been imported into Germany. British delegates object that Russia is not present and that the Soviet union should have a voice in any consideration of peace terms.

Robert J. Watt, U. S. labor delegate pressing for action here, has objected to British Delegate Sir Walter Citrine's statement that "millions of German workers voted to put Hitler into power * * * if we can not make them understand, we are headed for the third war."

Citrine protested the consideration here of plans by ILO for assistance to German trade unions.

Watt, who answered Citrine by saying that "all freedoms are born out of free trade unions * * * I can not say a whole people is cruel," said yesterday that several executive officers of the AFL, meeting here, complimented him on his stand.

AFL President William Green said:

"I am not acquainted with the details, but Watt's stand accords with AFL policy. We will not argue that Hitler should be punished. But we can't argue that all German people are responsible. We know how dictators can and do dominate their people."

Jan Masaryk, deputy prime minister of Czechoslovakia, obviously attacking Watt's stand, pierced the calm of a full plenary session yesterday by insisting that the whole German nation be made to pay for her aggression.

"I am not one to want the extermination of the entire German nation," Masaryk said, "but after the last war we lost the peace by not persuading the German nation that she was beaten."

complimentary votes went to Richard E. Parish, treasurer candidate, with 1,504; Walter Bibler, commissioner (short term) candidate with 1,389; John E. Dutton, candidate for county representative, 1,383.

There were no candidates for coroner, but Republicans wrote in 159 votes for Dr. Richard Morgan, now serving as coroner. Although an official opinion had not been passed on this early today, it was believed this number would not be sufficient to nominate him.

Shop Levy Approved

The only special issue in the county yesterday was the vocational shop levy in Pleasant township school district which won a favorable vote of 160 to 45. It will finance construction of a shop building separate from the school.

Despite the small number of local contests, there was a good-sized crowd in the downtown district last night to hear the returns. Republican headquarters had a good crowd to hear the returns read, and scores of persons called The Star office for election news.

Chinese Collapse Greatest Threat To Allies in East

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The greatest danger the allies face in their war against Japan is that gallant but hard-hit China may be knocked out (for all practical purposes) before we can finish off Hitler and turn our full strength against the marauders of the orient.

Actually China's weakness isn't new but is a long standing malady which just recently has become acute again. This column has reported numerous times that our ally was in dire straits.

The fresh difficulty is the Japanese offensive in Honan province. This is surging westward along the great Yellow river (China's sorrow) and southward astride the Peiping - Hankow-Canton railway. It represents a real threat to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's remaining war resources, including even his temporary, bomb-torn capital of Chungking.

Chiang's chief defense for years has been his ability to swap land-space for time, since he has lacked equipment for his armies. The enemy has absorbed the great industrial areas, the ports and much of the agricultural country—but the vast hinterland has been just too big for him to overrun.

Making Last Stand

The Generalissimo's present doings, however, represent close to his last useful territory. He could, to be sure, retreat still further into the "roof of the world"—but it would render him militarily impotent.

Such a catastrophe wouldn't mean that the United Nations had lost the war against Japan. But it would mean that the difficulties had been multiplied and that the conflict likely would be greatly protracted.

The Japanese offensive in Honan may have as one of its chief objectives the control of the entire Peiping-Canton railroad. This would give them an invaluable interior line of communication in China and would thus ease their grave shipping situation.

Japan's all-important sea communications, upon which the little island kingdom depends to hold together her ill-got empire and continue to wage war, already are badly shot to pieces. Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, tells us Japan's navy already is so damaged that she can't hope to make up losses. He also says we've reduced Nippon's merchant fleet to not more than two-thirds of what it was when we were attacked, and he predicts that "she cannot stand such a rate of loss for any length of time and keep her empire together."

British Subs Gather

To add spice to this dish, the London Evening Standard reports that British submarines are mustering in the Far East for a smashing blow at the vulnerable sea communications of the Japanese armies. The newspaper didn't specify the theater involved, but presumably it's Chinese and Indonesian waters in Admiral Lord Mountbatten's command.

No wonder the Japanese want to bolster their land communications.

Among other possible objectives of the invaders' drive may be the capture of Chungking. Heavy fighting is proceeding in the vicinity of Loyang, and this ancient city is guardian of a route to the capital. A continuation of their westward thrust also would gain the Japanese a rich grain area which is ready for the harvest, and would cut off Marshal Chiang's northern armies from those in the south.

The Loyang battle is reported to be ebbing and flowing fiercely. Our Major General Claire L. Chennault's Chinese-American air fleet is giving the hard-pressed Chinese direct support in this crucial engagement.

chairman of the huge mail order house which the government had seized.

Avery's return to his office from which he had been barred by government order, followed a ruling by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones last night, ending federal possession of the Chicago properties, the seizure of which climaxed a long-standing labor dispute.

Jones' order came at the end of a collective bargaining election which was won by the CIO union whose controversy with the company led to government control of the plant April 26. The results showed the CIO union represented a majority of the employes, which was a fundamental issue in the dispute over extension of a union-company contract.

The relinquishing of federal control followed President Roosevelt's earlier comment that the election outcome would "end the case." Jones said the purpose of seizing the plant had been accomplished and the election had been completed.

Avery, however, asserted the President had made a "misstatement," and added that Ward officials would bargain with any union chosen by the employes but would oppose any contract providing for any form of "closed shop." He also declared "the government has given no satisfactory reason for its action" for the "abrupt return of the Montgomery Ward property to its rightful owners."

Announcing his plans to return to his office from which he had been barred since his forcible ejection April 27, Avery attributed the government's returning the plant to "the indignation of the public which has risen like a balloon and has made it too hot for the administration."

Wants To Be Carried Back

Commenting on his return, the 69-year-old chairman of the country's second largest mail order firm said:

"I think it would be better if Jesse (Jones), who is a very strong man, would be here to carry me back from where he took me."

The CIO union at Ward's, the United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes, won the collective bargaining election by a vote of 2,440 to 1,593 and union officials announced they had asked the war labor board to order the company to extend the contract which expired last Dec. 8 pending a new agreement.

The company's refusal to comply with a WLB order to extend the contract with the union precipitated the federal seizure and Avery in a statement last night reasserted that "Ward's has never consented to a contract which provides for maintenance of membership or any other form of a closed shop." The expired contract contained a maintenance of membership clause.

Judge Declines To Rule on Expense Accounts

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 10—Common Pleas Judge Charles A. Leach yesterday declined to rule on the propriety of expense accounts turned in to the state for payment by Third district court of appeals Judge Charles A. Guernsey of Fostoria.

Holding that State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson presumably had investigated before allowing the expenses and had not filed any claim against Judge Guernsey, the court said no real and genuine controversy existed.

Guernsey in asking a ruling declared that although Fostoria is his legal residence, he maintains a home for himself and family at Lima. He said taxi fares to Lima and lodging and meals at his home had been placed on his expense account. He declared a "controversy" existed regarding their propriety and asked the court to find them "properly" allowed and paid.

The World War II veteran defeated Tom Danaher of St. Marys with a plurality of 25 votes, the tabulation showed.

Victory Volunteer Workers To Be Sought in Canvass of City

300 in Civilian Defense Block Organization Enlisted for House-to-House Visitation Next Week.

Approximately 300 Civilian Defense block leaders, lieutenants and workers will comb the city in a house-to-house canvass, during the coming week, to recruit seriously needed victory volunteer workers in Marion's wartime program. One-thousand workers are needed in the Marion area for the manufacture of invasion equipment, the sponsors, the Marion Area War Manpower commission and the Marion Industrial Victory council, report.

Kits containing questionnaires for the survey will be placed in the hands of the block leaders and their lieutenants Friday and they in turn will distribute them to the workers in their blocks. The urgent and immediate need of workers makes it imperative that the survey be completed as quickly as possible, the sponsors state. Workers are asked to carry out their part of the survey before Friday, May 19th, the date set for having the questionnaires in the hands of Roy Waddell, head of the block leaders, Thursday, May 18 is deadline for the completion of the canvass.

Information Needed

Those receiving the questionnaires will be asked to list whether or not they are employed, if so, what kind of employment, highest skill, whether or not they employed in work in which they are best skilled, if unemployed, would they accept work, what type of work they are best qualified for, whether they prefer full or partime work and similar questions. The questionnaires will be turned over to the U. S. Employment office by Mr. Waddell where each will be indexed as to the job the signer is best qualified. Signing the Victory Volunteer survey questionnaire does not mean that the signer is under any obligation to accept a job, the sponsors emphasize.

Organization Test

The city is divided into sectors corresponding to wards and these are divided into sections corresponding to the various precincts. Heading zone one is Mrs Barney H. Buettin, leader, and assisting her are the following leaders: Mrs. D. E. Rank, Mrs. Harold Stayner, Mrs. J. P. Couchlin, Mrs Raymond Donough, Mrs Edwin G. Obenour, Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

Mrs Cora S. McKeever is leader of zone two, and assisting her as group leaders are Mrs Margaret Dornbaugh, Mrs. Harry Hensberger, Mrs. Ruby Inch, Mrs Richard Dickason, Mrs William Van Houten.

Leader in zone three is Mrs Carl L. Spiggle, and her assistants are Mrs Walter E. Drake, Mrs. Fred Osborne, Mrs. Donald W. Phelps, Mrs. Joseph Lamb.

In zone four Mrs. H. J. Grigsby is leader and her assistants are Mrs William H. Strauss, Mrs. James L. Evans, Mrs. Carl Danner, Mrs. William P. Parr, Mrs. Paul Knauss.

Leader of zone five is Mrs. Ralph A. Garverick, and assisting are Mrs. Walter A. Dorsey, Mrs. L. M. Kraft, Mrs. O. V. Roby.

Other Services Performed

The block leaders organization, set up in Marion under Civilian Defense, is headed by Mr. Waddell. The group is active in the war and Civilian Defense program and to date has been called upon to conduct a number of surveys and campaigns, among them the Home Front pledge campaign, a house-to-house canvass to determine the need and facilities for caring for pre-school age children of working mothers, a canning clinic, collection of records for service men sponsored by the American Legion, and recruitment of WAVES for the U. S. Navy.

In blocks where the leader has moved or because of other circumstance is unable to serve, residents are asked to contact the sector leader as soon as possible. Also, anyone wishing to assist in the survey is asked to contact a block worker or leader, Mr. Waddell states.

Marion Bumped by Middletown, 10 - 3

Red Sox Deal Local Team Sixth Straight Setback of Season.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

MARION'S hard-playing, always-trying, but oft-defeated Ohio State leaguers were pushed deeper into the loop cellar as they absorbed loss number six in as many starts at Lincoln park last night, finishing on the short end of a 10 to 3 count in the opener of a three-game series with the Middletown Red Sox.

It was Middletown's third victory of the season against two defeats. Red Barnes' Red Sox, farm club of the American league Boston Sox of the same color, took an early 2 to 0 lead in the first inning and steadily piled up more runs until they had vanquished the locals by a seven-run margin.

Cold weather and a rain that came down intermittently throughout the game last night, sometimes interfering with play but never warranting a cessation of hostilities, kept the crowd down to approximately 300.

The game was played under protest by Manager Hartley of Marion from the seventh inning. In Marion's half of that inning, George Whidden, third baseman, walked. On an overthrow to first base he ran to third but was waved back to second base by Base Umpire Norris, who ruled that a runner could take only one base on an overthrow. Hartley, however, contended that under Lincoln park ground rules, the runner was entitled to the base toward which he was going plus one more base, which in this instance would be third. This was the basis for his protest.

Game Tonight

Tonight Marion's entry will be after its first league win in seven starts when they engage in the second contest of the Middletown series. The game will get under way at 6 o'clock, the same as all games played at Lincoln park thus far. Manager Grover Hartley of Marion said after last night's game that he probably would send Randy Edwards to the mound against the Red Sox tonight. Edwards, a left-hander, has been beaten twice this year, once by Lima in the season inaugural and later by the Zanesville Dodgers, but has shown more potential mound ability than any other member of the Marion hill corps, soon to be reinforced by arrivals from eastern minor league camps.

Bailey on Mound

Right Hander Francis Bailey worked the entire innings last night for the Hartleymen and was touched for 10 hits, including home runs over the right field fence by Manager Red Barnes and Joe Meslener, Red Sox first baseman. Lowell Houser, slender right hand flinger, was credited with the win for Middletown. He allowed the locals seven hits, fairly well scattered, fanned five batsmen and exhibited near-perfect control as he issued only one base on balls.

Only Marion batter who could rightly term Pitcher Houser a "cousin" as far as collecting base knocks was concerned was Virl Minnis, stocky, broad-shouldered left fielder. Minnis cracked a home run over the scoreboard in left center field and his next time up poled a healthy double. In the last inning, he came within a few feet of registering homer number two as he backed the Middletown left fielder up against the left field fence with a distance swat.

Minnis' home run came in the last of the third and was the first Marion hit off Houser. The second local tally was chalked up in the fourth stanza when Warren Blunt, right fielder, singled with two out and came home on a double to center field by Minnis. In the seventh canto, Irving Burkwitt, Marion center gardener, opened with a single. While Pitcher Houser was fondling the ball as he walked back to his mound position, Burkwitt cleverly stole second. He went on to third on an infield out by Pitcher Bailey—Second Baseman Moore to First Sacker Meslener. Burkwitt came in when Shortstop Kuddes of Middletown overthrew to first base in an attempt to double off George Whidden, who had walked. This was the play that brought the protest from Manager Hartley.

Middletown Starts Early

Middletown didn't waste any time in getting to Pitcher Bailey for some bingles and runs. After lead-off man Moore struck out in the first inning, Johnson drew a walk and went to second on a single by Steve Senko. Meslener drove in Johnson with a single. Kuddes batted in Senko for the second counter. In the second inning, Middletown racked up three runs—one unearned. Zwierinski started by waiting out Pitcher Bailey for a free ticket to first base. Gates singled him to second. Zwierinski was out at third, Pitcher Bailey to Third Sacker Whidden when Middletown Hurler Houser hit a feeble grounder. Moore gained first base by virtue of an error by Tom Hensby, Marion second baseman. Johnson flied out to left. Senko then whistled a crisp single to right field. Warren Blunt, right fielder for Marion, let the ball get through him and three runs came in with Senko pulling up on third base. Meslener ended the inning as he went out, First Baseman Malcolm Gregory, unassisted.

Middletown came back with two more runs in the fourth inning, which began with Houser grounding out. Moore walked and stole second. After Johnson popped out, Senko singled in Moore and took second himself on another steal off Catcher Joe Bellamy of Marion. Bellamy tried to catch Senko off second base but threw into center field. The big Red Sox third sacker jaunted home for the final score of the inning. Moore led off in the sixth inning with a single and after two men were retired, Meslener poled a lofty drive over the right field fence for four bases. Last Middletown tally came in the seventh inning when Manager Barnes, after going hitless in his first three trips, hit a homer on a line over the right field wall.

Best Fielding play of the game was provided by Marion First Baseman Gregory and Pitcher Bailey in the top half of the eighth inning. Johnson hit a ground ball down first base way and Gregory had to go far to his right to make the stop. Bailey, seeing that Gregory couldn't possibly beat the runner to the bag, hustled over himself and took the throw to get Johnson by a hair's breadth.

Pensive Must Win from Platter To Snag Triple Title

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 10—Warren Wright's proud and pretty Pensive, not content with wearing the richest derby in history, wants to replace that $65,000 cheapeau with the rare triple crown of racing.

But thousands of turfites who jammed Jamaica's stands while Pensive was winning Louisville's parade for the posies Saturday are convinced the Preakness and Belmont stakes will not be served up to trainer Ben Jones charger on a silver platter, because—

Pensive will have to lick the Platter!

Platter, of course, being a stout chestnut colt, son of Pilate-Let's Dine. Owned by George D. Widener, he received the nod of many experts as the best juvenile of 1943.

Platter was not rushed this spring, Widener deciding to withhold him from the derby while aiming him straight at Saturday's rich preakness at Pimlico. While Pensive was earning about $40,000 a minute last Saturday Platter had his 1943 coming out party at Jamaica.

The strapping Widener colt finished second in that one, a length back of the fleet sprinter, Rodney Stone, who carried only 116 pounds to Platter's 126. Platter appeared in need of the race.

It was at Pimlico that Platter reached his top form last year. The colt won his two starts there, including the Waldron.

L. Cookston was not far to the rear in second position with an 816 mark and Al Shull, Palace Recreation manager, posted 785 for third money.

Shull's count Monday night gives him a 12-pin lead in the overall totals for the first four weeks of the tourney, which keeps eight Palace lanes busy every Monday night. Shull has 3053 for 16 games and R. Snyder's 3041 is second high. Don Greenland with a 2901 total is third.

NEW YORK, May 10—The Baseball committee that looked into the high school situation learned that approximately 96 per cent of the high schools support basketball teams, but only 32 per cent participate in baseball . . . and since the war began baseball interest decreased 14 per cent while basketball showed an increase.

Inconsistent

There was considerable stir among the agriculturists around Rumson, N. J., the other day when news came out of the birth of twin calves in Mike Jacobs' barn . . . it was the first such event in the vicinity in 35 years, but Uncle Mike wasn't unduly elated . . . "They were both bulls," he complained. "I'd have given $50 if they had been heifers."

Frenchy broke in with Del Bissonette's Quebec team in the Provincial league in 1939, shifted over to Quebec's Canadian-American league in '41 and hit well over .300 during those three years . . . During the spring training season, the Cardinals weren't allowed to cross the Eastman-Landis line for an exhibition with Johnny Beazley's fourth ferrying group team. But Monday it was okay for them to visit Memphis for the same game purpose . . . The Aaron Perry-Bummy Davis fight June 9 will be the first eight-round main bout in Madison Square garden. Reason is that 18-year-old Aaron isn't old enough for longer bouts in New York . . . the football Dodgers officially have become the Brooklyn "Tigers," which at least saves one word in head lines.

MEL HARDER AFTER HIS 200TH VICTORY IN BOSTON TODAY

Indians Start 14-Game Swing Through Camps in Eastern Division.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, May 10—Mel Harder bids for the 200th mound victory of his major league career as the Cleveland Indians oppose Boston's Red Sox today in the opener of a 14-game swing around the American league's eastern division.

The veteran right hander is the only Tribe hurler to go the route-nine-inning route twice. In his two starts to date he has defeated the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago White Sox.

Ken Keltner, who was accepted for service in the Navy when he took his pre-induction physical examination, is expected to be back at his third base post. He is subject to call any time after the next three weeks.

The Tribe's fireballer, Allie Reynolds, will hurl one of the three games against the Red Sox and then return to Cleveland with catcher Russ Lyon to take physical examinations Saturday.

In a pair of abbreviated exhibition games against service teams at Davisville, R. I., yesterday, the Redskins walloped the Camp Thomas Seabees 7 to 0 in a seven-inning affair and then played an eight inning 5-5 tie with the Camp Endicott Seabees.

Reds Open Home Night Season Today

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 10—The Cincinnati Reds open their home night season tonight, with Bucky Walters starting his 200th game since coming here from the Phils in 1938 as a converted third baseman.

The New York Giants are the opposition and Manager Mel Ott says Bill Voiselle, first National leaguer to win three games, is his pitcher.

Walters, now 34, was developed as a pitcher by Jimmy Wilson, Cincinnati coach, who was manager of the Phils in those days and discovered that Bucky could knock a first baseman down with his throws. He cost the Reds two players and $55,000.

The sea walls of a Pacific atoll must be extremely tough to withstand the constant battering of waves.

Browns and Phillies To Learn If Their Spring Spurt Is Real

By The Associated Press

Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns and the once-futile Philadelphia Phillies can stamp themselves as serious pennant contenders or just spring morning glories in the first intersectional series of the major league season opening today in the nation's western half and the eastern cities of the American league.

Pre-season experts had spotted Washington and New York as the teams to beat in the American with Chicago a possibility, but the Brownies have scrambled the dope sheets in the first three weeks by climbing out in front by trampling Detroit and Chicago and shading Cleveland.

St. Louis and Cincinnati generally were conceded to be the one-two clubs in the National and they had been running that way until the Phils began to bang the Giants and Braves around and moved into second.

Now comes the payoff. Tonight the Browns go to bat against the Senators as Clark Griffith opens his steady night-game diet. After Washington, St. Louis goes to Philadelphia, Boston and New York in successive series.

With the Red Sox showing improvement, and Joe McCarty back with a Yankee club that boasts a six-game win streak, the Browns should be fully tested before they return home May 24.

In other American series opening today, Detroit will be at New York, Cleveland at Boston and Chicago at Philadelphia.

Preddy Fitzsimmons' Phils face an even rockier road than the Browns. Opening today in Chicago the Phils get that tough St. Louis and Cincinnati pitching before winding up the invasion in Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals get a peek at the battered Dodgers and Boston and New York have night dates, respectively, at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, in other series openers.

Brewers Stretch Lead to Four and Half Games

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee's Brewers threatened to spreadeagle the field yesterday as they stretched their American Association lead to four and one-half games and increased their winning streak to six as they turned back Toledo, 7 to 2.

At the other end of the Association ladder, Indianapolis' hapless Tribe extended their losing chain to 10 games as they dropped a 10-inning battle to Minneapolis, 9 to 8.

Rookie Elmer Singleton hurled Kansas City to a 2 to 1 decision over Columbus and Louisville halted a four-game losing streak with a 3 to 2 win over St. Paul in other games.

...or how friends are made in the R. A. F.

Have a "Coke" is a friendly greeting among R. A. F. flyers back at early dawn from a night mission. It's like a salute among comrades in arms that seals the bonds of friendship in Plymouth, England, as in Plymouth, Mass. It's an offer as welcome on an English airfield as it is in your own living room. Around the globe, Coca-Cola is spreading the custom of the pause that refreshes,—has become a happy symbol of good-hearted friendliness in many lands.

He fought in the battles of Empress Augusta Bay and Bougainville.

Staff Sgt. Arthur Schreck Jr., arrived in New York City, Tuesday, and Friday went through Galion on his way to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Overseas a year this month, and in service 18 months, Sgt. Schreck was awarded the distinguished flying cross, the air medal and six oak leaf clusters while in England. Since completing his 25 missions, he has been serving as an instructor for a month in England, teaching turret-gunnery.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

When war broke out, Marine Sgt. Maier J. Rothschild of New York City was studying journalism at night, selling stocks in Wall Street daytimes. On December 31, 1941, 24 days after Pearl Harbor, he enlisted. He's been awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in hand to hand bayonet combat, and the Navy Cross for fighting off and killing 95 out of 150 of the enemy storming a machine-gun emplacement. He's not giving up until we win. And you? Are you still buying that extra War Bond?

RATIONED FOOD SALES BANNED IN DAIRY STORES

OPA Penalties Establishments in Marion and Central Ohio.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 10—The district office of price administration reported today 16 Isaly Dairy company stores and restaurants have been prohibited from selling rationed commodities for three weeks and would be on probation for the remainder of a four-month period.

OPA officials said the order followed asserted violation of OPA regulations dealing with price ceilings, retail registration and ration banking practices.

Stores affected in this district, the OPA said, were on South Main street and 363 East Center street, both in Marion; Urbana, Marysville, Bellefontaine and Delaware.

Ten stores in the Toledo district are at Lima, Kenton, Wapakoneta, Galion, Tiffin, Bowling Green, Fremont, Fostoria, Bucyrus and Findlay, the report added.

The federal agency said Frederick S. Glover, OPA hearing commissioner, effected the consent order with Isaly officials.

DEFERMENT OF ALL OVER 29 FORECAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 10—Indefinite draft deferment of all men over 29, regardless of whether they are "necessary men" by present standards, was understood today to be one of the provisions of a new selective service policy to be made public tomorrow night.

While officials refused to confirm this report, indications that the pool of men under 30 is sufficient to meet calls for several months gave weight to prospects of wide liberalization regarding older men.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has predicted that calls can be met until early fall with men 18 through 25. Those 26 through 29 will be inducted next month with deferments granted only to those in a necessary job in essential work.

Under present regulations, this same yard stick is being applied to men over 29.

The new policy would provide blanket deferment of men in this group, no matter what their job so long as it is in an essential occupation.

Church Groups Meet at Richwood Home

RICHWOOD—The Baptist Aid and Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. Ross Wiley Thursday, May 4. Mrs. Orvie Young presided for the aid society business meeting and devotions were conducted by Mrs. S. R. Sanders. Mrs. R. J. Langstaff conducted a quiz.

RYE DISPLAYS FIRM TONE TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 10—Rye futures displayed a firm tone in the grain pits today with the May contract advancing about a cent at one time. Much of the buying came from local traders and was believed to represent short-covering. Wheat was steady while oats showed little change.
Sales of flour by mills in the principal producing areas decreased slightly during the past week, the Northwestern Miller, a trade publication, reported. Seeding of wheat in most of the northwest is completed, trade dispatches asserted. Corn bookings totaled 70,000 bushels.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I HAD known that my excitement at the advent of the armed men pretending to be coast guards was at fever heat but at Hugh's pronouncement I felt that my mental thermometer must have jumped to the degree usually termed fatal.

But I controlled myself with a mighty effort, murmuring only "He is an F.B.I. agent? But how marvelous for you!"

"Yes, it's a break for me," he said "Now, if you'll get things in motion."

Time for Work

But I was at the door with his utterance of the word, "Now." I knew that this was no time for delirious flights of imagination, but for cool-headed serious work, and I went directly to the side hall again where the three tied and blindfolded men, and the one whom Hugh had unbound, lay motionless while Jim and Katie, religious's following out their instructions, walked around the room.

"There is no need of patrolling the room," I told my faithful fat-workers, saying signals which I knew were ridiculous but which I knew they would interpret correctly as camouflage of my speech.

"There is not enough air in here," I went on, keeping my tone a bit sharp; "too many people here for the room. Jim, we'll give each of these men a room to himself. There'll be enough of us to watch over them. Jerry will be back in a minute."

I stepped to the side of the man nearest the door.

"Take this one first," I said, "to the living room. Have him lie down on his face again. He'll be more comfortable that way while his hands are tied behind him. Katie will go with you and watch him while you come back here."

Met Jim

I met Jim outside the door when he came back, and spoke in a whisper although all the doors were closed.

"When I say 'library' the next time," I told him, "I mean living room. We'll put two of them in there."

Jim nodded, and followed me back into the hall.

"Take the second man into the library," I said, "and put him down just as you did the first man. Then call me, and we can pass each other when you come back."

"Suits me, Ma'am," Jim said, "I don't cotton none to seein' any of these here rep-tiles crawling around."

"They won't crawl far," I said grimly, and when he had taken the second man to the living room as we had agreed, and called me to come, I stepped out into the hall and when I met him whispered softly:

Fourth All Right

"Take the third man to the library, and have Katie watch over him. Then come to the living room and relieve me. The fourth man will be all right where he is."

"But," Jim's face was as full of protest as his voice, but I put up my hand.

"He's all right, Jim," I whispered. "Major Grantland vouches for him. Now get that third man quickly."

His face was still doubtful as he turned away, but his habit of obedience held, and in another two minutes our prisoners were all arranged again, two in the big living room, each unaware of the other's presence, with Jim mounted guard over them; one in the library, with Katie ludicrously important, watching him, and the fourth lying unguarded in the side hall.

I went quickly to my study, and found Hugh sitting at my desk and writing busily.

"Forgive me for making free with your writing materials," he said.

"Don't waste time in talking nonsense," I restored. "The men are all disposed as you wish. Shall I bring the unbound one in here?"

Complimented

"If you will, 'please,'" he said, smiling at me. "Please bring all his various bandages along, also. And—may I compliment you on your efficiency?"

"When this is all over, perhaps," I kept back over my shoulder, as I hurried to the door "I haven't time now."

His amused chuckle followed me out of the door, and I was irritated by his apparent triviality until I realized its cause. His spirits had been given so tremendous an uplift by his discovery of an unexpected ally that it had lifted a great weight from his shoulders.

But I did not dwell long upon his mood. I had work to do, and I was also haunted by the question of Junior's whereabouts. Had Charlie Kent arrived at the Tavern, and were both of them on their way over to the secret passage? Might they not even be in the underground chamber already?

The questions kept storming around my brain, as I gathered up the bandages, which the fourth man had worn, and then silently beckoning him, led him to the study door and through it.

"Sit down and wait, please," Hugh said. Then he put his hand on my arm and impelled me to the door. Outside, he put a swift question.

"Is it safe to leave Katie on guard over that one prisoner, if you can't trust her with a revolver?" he asked.

YOUR HEALTH

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Best Health Gauge

The three best fundamental signs to determine the general status of health are body temperature, pulse and respiration. The body temperature remains from birth to old age, day after day, night after night at a very constant level in health between 98 and 99 degrees Fahrenheit.

It fluctuates very slightly during the 24 hour period from a low point at the time of the lowest bodily vitality during the middle of the night to a high point in late afternoon, but this variation is not more than one or two-fifths of a degree. Any record out of the range 98 to 99 is an indication of some trouble. Babies and children are more subject to temperature changes than adults.

So too the pulse keeps a steady grind in health. Ninety-nine per cent of adults have a pulse rate of 72 a minute in health. Children are often a little higher. The one per cent of the population not included in the above estimates may have a naturally slow, or a naturally high pulse, but the extreme variations are not beyond 60 and 100.

The pulse is, of course, notably more easily upset by physiological variations than the bodily temperature — any exertion will do it, simply the response of the heart to the necessity of the tissues for more oxygen when bodily exertion is begun. Another indicator about the pulse is its rhythm. In health with remarkable consistency in different individuals it is regular.

The respiration—rate and depth and regularity of breathing—is another fundamental body function that tells us much. But it is not nearly so well standardized as body temperature or pulse. By that I mean there is more variation in the respirations between individuals. I have been interested in the reports on the breathing pattern made by Dr. I. J. Caughey, Jr., of Columbia University.

Dr. Caughey made an analysis of 500 women and 200 men. As to rate of breathing he found the average of the women was 14.6 breaths per minute and the men 13.7 per minute. But the variations in individual cases was considerable. Some women breathed as slow as 5 breaths a minute and some as fast as 32. The extremes of the men was about the same.

Depth of breathing is about 11 per cent of the estimated vital capacity in both sexes, but this varied in different individuals from 5 to 25.

In many people there is a demonstrable pause after all the breath has been expelled before the next inspiration has begun. But this is by no means universal, being absent in 41 per cent of women and 62 per cent of men.

Breathing is interrupted by signs or swallowing in about half of all. 65 per cent of women sighing once to seven times a minute.

Irregular breathing is commoner than regular by twice as much. Sixty-four per cent of women and 70 per cent of men breathe irregularly. Holding the breath at times or pauses whether awake or asleep. So don't worry too much if when watching someone you lose a wink asleep, the breathing is irregular.

A common symptom with nervous people is a feeling of inability to get air clear to the bottom of the lungs. It doesn't mean anything in most cases, but it results in a habit of taking long breaths and sighing which may lead to some psychological maladjustment. By concentrating the effort on increasing the depth of inspiration there is an unsatisfactory emptying of the lungs during expiration. As a result the volume of residual air is increased, the amount of air which can be taken into the lungs even with maximal muscular effort is reduced, muscle soreness is aggravated and the feeling of inability to take a deep breath is intensified. These people create a vicious circle in themselves.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. C. M.—Please tell me if St Vitus' dance has any effect on the heart.

Answer: Yes. St. Vitus' dance, or chorea, is considered the same as a rheumatic affection, and in some cases causes the same kind of heart damage.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.
